Churchplaza.com Architects and Builders

Our Recommendations

Every year there are more than 5,000 major church construction projects in the United States requiring an Architect and/or general contractor. Many times we are asked to provide recommendations on who we trust!

We personally know and trust these architects and builders. We've worked with them on many past projects, and personally visited with them to insure that we share the same business and ministry values.

While there are other trustworthy architects in the United States, we personally know and recommend these. For projects from $500,000 to $100,000,000, these are trustworthy and competent options for your church!

RSI
Church Service Group

Fund Raising

Chairman Ben Gill founded RSI 30 years ago as America's first company devoted to the fundraising needs of Christian churches and organizations.

Mr. Gill launched RSI with many years experience as the head of a denominational stewardship division, where he served more than 34,000 churches. Mr. Gill worked with a staff of professionals from many denominations and traditions to build the nation's leading resource for practical, faithful, and effective church fundraising counsel.

Embedded in the principles of biblical stewardship, RSI has grown to include more than 175 professionals. Their combined knowledge and leadership have made the difference for more than 17,000 local congregations nationwide, in addition to countless schools, camps, academies, conference centers, and Christian humanitarian organizations. To date, RSI has helped faith-based organizations to raise more than $1 billion.
